Important notes concerning Article 37 of the Financial Instruments and Exchange Act (Regulation of Advertising, etc.)

Fees and Expenses

When executing a financial instrument or other transaction, a predetermined fee may be charged. For example at a SMBC Nikko Securities Inc. ("SMBC Nikko") branch or office, when an order is placed to buy or sell a stock or other security on a securities exchange in Japan (with the exception of odd-lot remainders), the service fee of up to a maximum of 1.242% of the contract settlement amount (subject to a minimum fee of 5,400 yen) is charged to the customer; or when investing in an investment trust, the sales fee (a maximum of 4.32% of the purchase amount), the redemption fee or the partial redemption charge (a maximum of 4.5% of the redemption amount), the trust fees and other expenses (a maximum of 5.61% annual rate of the net asset amount) are charged to the customer (Note: The fee, charge and expense rates are predetermined by each fund). The customer will be only charged for purchase price of a bond, stock or other security in trades executed as part of a primary offering, secondary distribution, or with a counterparty (Note: In the case of bonds, the trade may require that the customer pay accrued interest separately from the purchase price). For trades involving products denominated in foreign currencies, an exchange of products denominated in yen and another currency, or exchange of products denominated in different currencies, the applicable exchange rate will be determined by SMBC Nikko Securities based on the foreign currency exchange markets. For fees and expenses above mentioned are subject to consumption tax, the rate and amount include the consumption tax portion.

Risks

Each product entails the risk of a partial loss of amount of investment capital (the risk of partial loss of principal) or a loss equal to or greater than the invested capital (the risk of equal to exceeding principal) due to variety of factors, which may include price variance and fluctuations in stock markets, interest rates, currency exchange markets, real estate markets, commodity markets, creditworthiness (including the financial and management conditions) of issuers of securities, and third-party valuations of securities based on the financial markets. When executing a margin or derivatives transaction ("derivatives"), there is a risk the amount of derivatives transaction exposure could exceed the customer's margin collateral and margin deposit (margin collateral amount), and there is also a risk of loss exceeding the customer's margin collateral amount due to prices of securities or values of indexes underlying such transactions fluctuate (the risk of equal to or exceeding principal). When trading over-the-counter derivative transactions, there may be a spread between the ask and bid prices on financial instruments quoted by SMBC Nikko.

Aforementioned fees, charges, expenses and risks etc. differ depending on the financial instrument. Therefore the customers should carefully examine all relevant documents, including document delivered prior to execution (keiyaku teiketsu mae kofu shomen), prospectus, and other material provided. Customers may contact SMBC Nikko branch or office for question regarding such documents.
